

Automated GPS Time Tracking Solution for Mobile and Field Teams

When your teams work across multiple job sites, it's hard to gather a complete day-to-day record of what happens in the field. You can't see where everyone is working, employees forget to clock in and out, and your HR team spends hours reconciling data before payroll.

Timeero is a GPS time tracking solution built for field teams using BambooHR. It gives you real-time visibility into your workforce while automatically syncing accurate time data to BambooHR, reducing administrative work and payroll errors.

► See what's happening in the field in real time

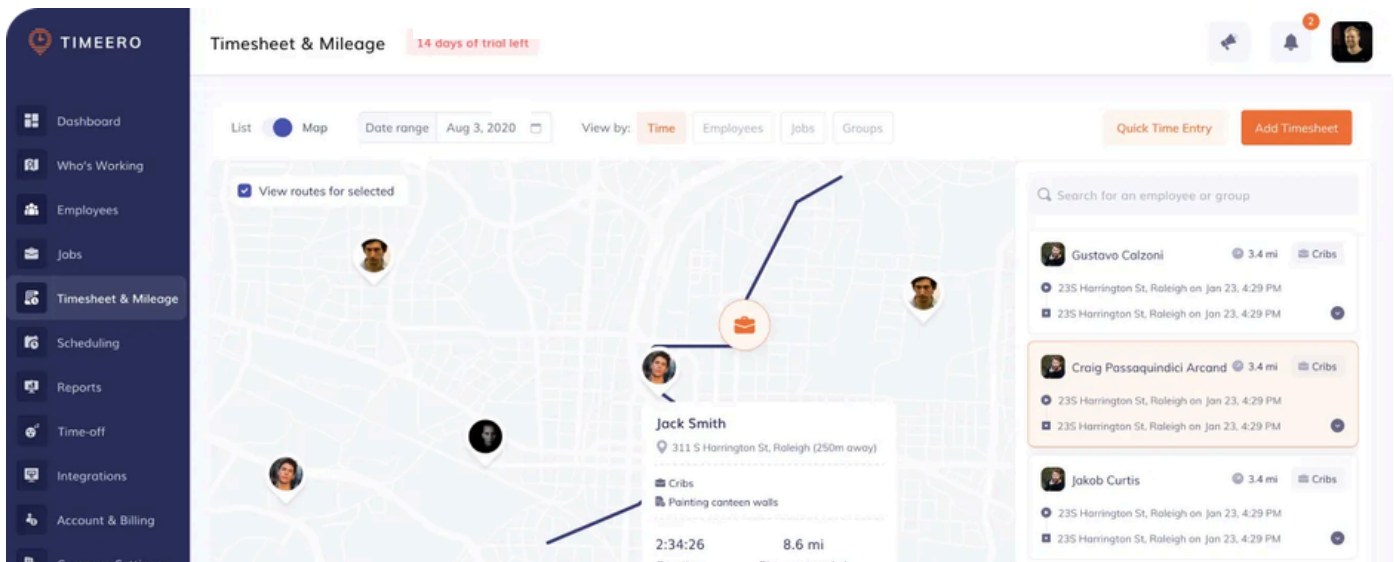

Knowing where your crews are working is an important part of project management. Timeero provides real-time GPS location updates, allowing you to see which jobs your teams are working on, who's on the road, and how long employees have been at each location.

► Automatically capture time when and where work happens

Field crews forget to clock-in and out, which means more work for your HR team. Timeero's Auto Clock-In/Out uses geofencing technology to automatically clock employees in/out when they arrive at and depart from the job site without them ever needing to pull out their phones.

► Prevent time theft and unauthorized time entries

Using paper logs to track employee work hours increases fraudulent time entries. With geofencing technology, users can draw circular or custom geofences around job sites to restrict employees from being able to clock in outside of work zones or for someone else.

Timeero + BambooHR: A Smarter Workforce Management Solution

▶ Save time every pay period

Juggling multiple apps to track and import employee time requires more manual work on your end. The BambooHR x Timeero integration takes away those extra steps, automatically syncing employee time, PTO, projects, and tasks directly to BambooHR at clock-out.

Export time, PTO, projects, and tasks directly to BambooHR account.

▶ Improve payroll accuracy

Manual data entry creates unnecessary payroll risk. Timeero validates employee records before they're synced, preventing mismatched or incomplete data from reaching BambooHR and helping ensure payroll is accurate the first time.

▶ Export time your way

Choose the workflow that best fits your payroll process:

- Automatic Export: Employee time is automatically sent to BambooHR as soon as they clock out in Timeero.
- Manual Export: Managers review and approve timesheets in Timeero before exporting records to BambooHR when they're ready for payroll.

Connect Your Field Operations to Payroll

Timeero and BambooHR work together to automate time tracking, improve payroll accuracy, and give you complete visibility into your field workforce. With less manual work and more reliable data, your team can spend less time fixing timecards and more time moving the business forward.
